

OLD AGE PENSIONS
AS this is written, the Social Security Bill, sponsored by the President, is being considered in the House. It is being considered under an open rule and twenty hours of debate. At this time no one can say in what form the bill will emerge. However, it is safe to predict that a bill will be passed. Personally, I am very much concerned about seeing a practical bill work into shape for final passage—a bill that will benefit the aged of Mississippi.

The bill as now reported out by the committee requires the states to match, dollar for dollar, the amount placed by the Federal Government. It provides for a maximum of $30.00 per month to each qualifying person of 65 years of age or over. I am personally apprehensive that poor states like Mississippi will not be able to qualify. And I am, therefore, making a fight to remove the restriction requiring the states to put up dollar for dollar. I have rallied considerable support from other members from comparatively poor states like Mississippi, and we are very hopeful.

CHERRY BLOSSOMS
The Nation's capital for the past few weeks has been flooded with visitors from all parts of the world who have come to see the annual blossoming of the widely famed Cherry Blossoms. It was estimated that 150,000 visitors were in Washington over the past week-end, and one can well believe it as the hotels were crowded, traffic was jammed, and all places of amusement were filled to overflowing. More especially could this be noticed if one drove beyond the historic Washington Monument along the Tidal Basin, which is lined with these Japanese Cherry trees.

These trees originally came from Japan and were a gift to the United States during the administration of President Roosevelt. The First Lady at that time planted one of these trees, and ever since the season of the year in Washington when the trees bloom is anxiously awaited. A festival is held each year—when the blossoms are at their peak—and thousands of sleepy-eyed Washingtonians and out of town visitors get out of bed in time to attend this service, which is held at sunrise. The Japanese Ambassador and his wife and other members of the Japanese Legation attend in oriental costumes, and a program is put on under the trees. It is a very impressive sight, and the loveliness of the flowers has certainly not been over-rated.

HIGHWAY APPORTIONMENT
Under the works-relief bill Mississippi's apportionment will be $8,865,000 for highways and $5,025,000 for grade crossing elimination, or a total of $13,890,000 out of the $800,000,000 set aside for this work.

FARM CREDIT ADMINISTRATION
Since we seem to be very much in a mood for figures this time, here are some more, this time from the Farm Credit Administration. It reports that it has a total of $51,484,996 outstanding in loans and discounts in the State of Mississippi. Most of this, or approximately thirty four and half million, is in the form of regular Federal Land Bank loans. Nine million dollars worth of Land Bank Commissioner's loans and six and a half million of Intermediate Credit Bank loans have been made in the state. The Production Credit Corporation has loaned a little over a million dollars, and about the same amount is outstanding as emergency crop loans.

H. WILBUR DRIVER IS ANNOUNCED FOR BOARD SUPERVISORS, BEAT NO. 5

Life-Long Resident Seeks to Serve Public From Bay-Waveland District—Plans a Liberal Yet Business-Like Administration.

H. Wilbur Driver, of Bay St. Louis, is formally announced in this issue of The Sea Coast Echo, a candidate for supervisor, Beat 5, (Bay-Waveland beat) of Hancock county.

Mr. Driver is seeking to serve the people as a future member of the Board of Supervisors. Born and reared locally and observant and of a constructive turn of mind and of doing, he offers his services to the public.

His policies are along the most constructive lines. He is a firm believer in good roads, bridges and improvements. He says the judicious use of money for the public benefit is an investment that will yield abundant returns; he says such expenditures not only give value received but in turn provides work for the public. However, Mr. Driver says, making the budget for the year is one of the more important features of the administration. To budget, liberally yet intelligently, and to abide by such budget will in time aid to restore financial conditions. We must spend, he says, but never beyond our means.

"With Hancock county adjacent to Louisiana and so close to the city of New Orleans, a great city to draw from, our county becomes one of the most important in the State. We are peculiarly yet advantageously situated for great accomplishment and telling results," says Mr. Driver. "and not only as the city does, but the county as well must encourage new people and make it attractive to keep those we already have. A considerable portion of our taxes are derived from people living away. Their interests, too, must be as carefully safeguarded as our own. Every man, who possibly can, should own his home, and the county should aid and encourage such residents in that manner that will make owning a home attractive and to advantage."

"I believe in a liberal interpretation of the laws. They are planned and adopted for the most good to the greatest number of people and not to work a hardship on any one. We must encourage people to visit our resort beaches and to make this section of our Gulf Coast one of their favorite places. They must have amusement, diversion and recreation."

"I believe in co-operating with the city in many of the projects that may come within our province and with which the law will permit. I believe in all that will redound to both the advancement of our own Beat and the county in general."

Mr. Driver was a candidate in the last campaign for supervisor from this district and it will be remembered he made a splendid race, in fact, so much so, that he again offers his services and solicits the aid and influence of both voter and resident in general.

"If elected," he says, "no one will have cause to regret it. I will exert every effort and endeavor to make my part of the county administration one of the outstanding things of my life," he says.

WHITE TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

Candidate For Governor
Plans to Speak in Every County Before First Primary

Hugh White, Columbia industrialist and runner-up in the campaign of 1931, announces that he will open his speaking itinerary at his old home, McComb, on the night of April 30th.

McComb reports that the citizens of that fine south state town are planning to make the occasion a memorable one, making it a home coming for the candidate, who was born there and who first entered his father's business while it was located in McComb.

For many years Mr. White was mayor of his present home city Columbia and it is pointed to with pride by Columbia that during his term of office all city streets were paved and many other fine and costly improvements of public property were gained. Though his three terms were noted for the public improvements, Mr. White by his businesslike methods was able to lower the Columbia city tax rate by 10 mills during the time he served and over half of the cost of improvements had been paid for.

Mr. White stated when interviewed that he expected to speak in every county in the state before the first primary, which falls on August 6, and would make an intensive tour of the state during the three weeks interval between primaries.

Mr. White has an active and hard-working organization in Pike county and it is predicted that he will poll a much heavier vote this year than he did in 1931. Local citizens are eagerly awaiting the McComb speech, as the candidate's platform will be made public at that time.

RED CROSS MEETING

Local Red Cross organization will hold its regular monthly meeting Friday (today) 2:30 o'clock, at City Hall, Second street.

Full attendance is respectfully requested. Members and the public in general interested in this splendid work invited.

She had visited here frequently and numbered her friends by the score. MRS. CELINE ASHCRAFT RECEIVES PHOTOS AND LETTER FROM DEFOE

Head of Primary Grade at Central School and Class
Justly Proud of Attention

Recently there was published in these columns a story of the work of building a hospital of pasteboard, cribs and all accessories as regards the Dionne quintuplets; that Mrs. Celine Ashcraft and pupils of the first grade at Central School had constructed a project to completion that attracted admiration and favorable comment.

Now, Mrs. Ashcraft says, our "quintuplet project is complete in all respects," since we received our letter from Dr. Defoe and an autographed picture of the fine wonder babies with the two nurses and Dr. Defoe.

The letter and picture came in answer to Mrs. Ashcraft's letter to Dr. Defoe, explaining the project. Mrs. Ashcraft also sent him a copy of the publication, in which was printed an interview with her about the work in her room.

The picture is of the five babies in a crib, with Dr. Defoe and the two nurses standing in the background. Dr. Defoe autograph is on the letter.

The letter to Mrs. Ashcraft reads thus:

"Thanks for your letter which is appreciated and for paper received. 'An enclosing an autographed picture of babies at two months that you may like."

"Babies are fine."

"Sincerely"

"A. R. DEFOE, M. D."

The picture and letter are on exhibit with the project in Mrs. Ashcraft's room.

Selection of Queen Next

May 5.

Who'll be queen of St. Joseph's Academy May Festival is one of the all-absorbing questions just now. Nothing is of more import locally, regardless of the streamlines and front page-headers occupying attention of the daily press.

The festival will take place May 5th, but on the first day of May the momentous decision, by majority of votes cast, will be announced. Various young ladies are candidates, for queen and maids of honor. Of the latter there will be thirty in number and an equal number of flower girls or pages.

The affair is going to be presented on a lavish scale and no one will want to miss the coronation. In addition, there will be a program of various numbers, including Miss Peo Harding, dance artist, Miss Melanie de Ben, young personality singer who took Asheville, N. C., theater goers by storm last season, and other well-known personages and numbers.

St. Joseph's Gym will be the scene of the affair and the public is cordially invited to see the beautiful court and attend the entertainment to follow.

The Bishop Gunn Council, No. 1583 Knights of Columbus of Gulfport, are completing plans for the initiation which they are sponsoring to be held at Pass Christian on Sunday, April 28, at St. Paul's Hall. This will be the first time that an initiation will be held here since ten are more years ago. The class will probably have one of the largest list of candidates ever initiated on the Coast. There will be fourteen candidates from Pass Christian among whom will be the following: Earl M. Derise, Bernard T. Hayden, Denis Driscoll, Henry Bernard Lozes, Frank J. McDonald, Jr., Harry H. Wittman, Eldridge A. Helwick, John Joseph Wittman, Frederick A. Lang, Walter J. McDonald, Jos. W. Denis, Anderson T. McCollister and Daniel C. Northrop.

The hospital is in need of replenishing these supplies and the public will continue appreciably in responding to this appeal. The shower will be held at the hospital, Carroll avenue, from 3 to 5 o'clock afternoon. A huge birthday cake will be a notable feature and refreshment will be served with the cutting of the cake. Members and other friends interested in the welfare of the King's Daughters' splendid work of conducting the local hospital are expected to be present.

WESTON CALLED AWAY

Candidate J. Roland Weston
Going to Pacific Coast
On Business Withdraws
From Race for Representative

J. Roland Weston, recently announced in the county newspaper as candidate for representative from Hancock county to the Legislature, has issued a card to the public in general, withdrawing his candidacy.

Mr. Weston, who spent several years at Seattle, Washington, and at other points along the Pacific coast in business pursuit, and representing Weston timber interests in that section, after a residence back home of a few years is again called to the far coast and this precludes carrying on his campaign and of continuing the race.

Mr. Weston's candidacy had been received with considerable encouragement. His knowledge of forestry and fully acquainted with local conditions fitted him admirably for the post. His withdrawal is a matter over which he has no control and his going away will be regretted.

His card, which The Echo is authorized to publish, follows:

Bay St. Louis, Apr. 25, 1935.

On account of unforeseen business arising which makes it imperative for me to be on the Pacific Coast in July, I find it necessary to withdraw my candidacy for Representative to the State Legislature. I wish to thank all my friends for their offers of help.

Thanking you for past courtesies, I am,

Yours very truly,

J. ROLAND WESTON.

GLORIFYING A DISTURBER OF THE PEACE

GULF COAST keepers of the peace will in future be milder in their treatment of young men of New Orleans out for the Easter weekend. A certain speedy youth was spotted tearing up the road late Saturday, and Bay St. Louis cops gave chase, whistling for him to stop. Secure in the belief that his car would outrun any motorcycle, the young man gave them a run for his money. But he was cornered finally, and dragged to the local hoosegow, where the constabulary stubbornly refused him any outside communication, despite eloquent appeals for use of the telephone.

Temper getting the best of him, hoarseness curtailing his speeches, he tried force. He shook the bars of his cell like Tarzan at his best. So Tarzanlike was he, in fact, that the entire door and framework was torn from its socket. The Bay St. Louis jail was thoroughly demoralized and the cops were glad to get him out of there.

The foregoing from a New Orleans newspaper has all the earmarks of the bravado and it would seem that the tenor of the article is to make a hero of the subject; that the young man is the injured party. The writer of the article seems to gloat over the manner in which the young man broke jail and finally evaded the law.

We have not investigated the matter. It is too negligible for that. But we will bet dollars to doughnuts that the young man was not arrested for keeping the peace and behaving as an exemplary young man should. It has never been the habit of Bay St. Louis police force to arrest men unless there was, at least, some semblance for so doing. The original title of the article is "He Showed 'Em." Showed 'em what?

We are afraid the court of inquiry now in progress at New Orleans seeking to expose and punish an individual who is charged with not paying his just income tax proportion, will go the way of all such cases and inquiries. They're like the story of the empty box, so politicians would have them appear.

A newspaper calls attention to the fact that Adolph Ochs, newspaper publisher, was lavishly mourned; that after the funeral everybody including his best friends, hurried home back to their own selfish way. Well, while that's true, and is life, but what else would one be expected to do besides hurrying home?

QUESTION THE PEDDLER AND AGENT.

THE peddler or agent, saleslady or salesman is probably a man, or woman, trying to make an honest living. As such they deserve courtesy and kind treatment, but not your patronage.

There is no reason for prejudice against the out of town houses that try to get our money. They are only pushing their business as they have a right to do, and are to be commended for doing it.

The reason the peddlers visit this town, and the mail order catalogues come, is because there are a number of suckers living in Bay St. Louis. Most of them think they are doing the wise thing in getting a "bargain," but that is because they do not think. They do not accept a community of interest that will eventually lead to a community of progress and success.

The next time a peddler raps at your door greet him with a smile, and these questions. "Does your company pay any taxes to support our schools?"

"Do you, or your company, contribute to the churches of Bay St. Louis?"

"Have you ever contributed to help a neighbor of ours when stricken by disaster?"

"What, if anything, have you, or your company, ever done to help make Bay St. Louis a better place for our children to live in? Do you offer any opportunity to them when they grow older and seek places to work?"

If any of them get by these four let us know about it and we will suggest a few others. If, after interrogating the visiting brother you think it to your own best interest to ignore local merchants and home enterprises, without giving them a hearing, let your conscience be your guide.

Total collections from all sources from January 1, 1935 to date, according to Chairman Alf Stone, of the Tax Commission, totals $1,963.108.04 as compared with 1,606,641.51 last year.

Bootleggers and others voted Kentucky and Virginia dry a few days ago. The country is surprised at these States going "dry." Well, how do you expect bootleggers to make a living?

E. C. Hanna, recruiting officer for the State EPA, states that possibly 2000 men will be added to the Mississippi quota of CCC men, under a proposal now pending in Congress to increase the strength of the CCC to 250,000 men.

CAMPAIGN FOR STATE HIGHWAY

A CAMPAIGN for better roads, paved highways and byways is being strenuously advocated, relentlessly the work is pursued and this project has no better champion than the Gulfport Herald which has inaugurated a campaign that is going to spell nothing less than success.

There has been entirely too much hard-surfacing sporadically. It reminds one of the old Bay St. Louis policy of building streets, putting one shell here and one shell there. A kind of method that not only proved inadequate but one of the most costly imaginable. Our local readers in majority will remember the days when the city had no hard-surfaced streets; when the shell road seemed to be the only medium of surfacing. At its best it was unsatisfactory and the tax-payers' money was spent before it was collected.

There must be less of this patching highways and byways over the State. This smacks of politics. A kind of satisfying and an attempt to appease the just wrath of tax-payers over the State. And the result is that no continuous roadways of any length exist and there is nothing permanent or tangible to show for the tax-payers' money, even if it is federal aid money. Who is the government after all if it is not you and me? We are the government. We pay the bills in the last analysis. We should have proper return.

There must be one trunk line of hard-surfaced roadway built from Memphis down to the Mississippi Gulf Coast line. As it is at present autos attempting to travel thru to the Coast are marooned. It is stated thousands of tourists who would come to the Gulf Coast and probably thru to New Orleans and on to California avoid Mississippi. They travel southward to Florida, down to Miami where the tourist trade this year has exceeded previous records and the sale of gasoline confirms this statement. Mississippi loses all of this and because who ever is responsible has failed to build hard-surfaced line from the Tennessee line to the waters of the Gulf.

We are burdened with taxes and receive little or nothing in return, regardless of the cause whether Gov. Conner is out with the Highway Commission or any of the various causes ascribed.

By multiple taxation we are already sharing our wealth. We share with the city, the county, the State and the federal government. What room is there for a share-your wealth Society? On with the campaign!

We would force our children in believing the rabbit lays chicken eggs, vari-colored, and when they grow up we wallop them and wonder why they tell falsehoods. And the structure of such statement is at all variance with nature.

A DEBT TO THE CHURCH

THERE are those who criticize the churches, calling them narrow, provincial and intolerant. Occasionally, upon certain matters, it has looked like the religious leaders were inclined just a little too far, and just a little too indifferent to the fact that good men might disagree with them without deserving the scorn and contumely of church members.

With all this in mind, however, few of us ever appreciate the great debt that the average community owes to the church in the past years this would hardly be a decent place in which to live.

The influence of the church has been great. Through altering the attitude of men and women it has caused them to go out into the world and set up new standards. It has made possible the protection of wealth. It has made the lives of men and women safe. It has restrained mankind from all manner of evil. Without its curb, which holds back every member of society to some extent, this would be a shameless place, a blot on the face of the earth.

Those who are prone to criticize the church and to harp on its faults seldom investigate far enough to know that earnest leaders of church activities are also alert to the reforms that the churches require. If the average critic of the church would subject his or her life to the same clear eyed scrutiny that sincere church leaders give the workings of their organization the improvement that would result would be marked.

The Garden Clubs of Mississippi will hold their annual convention at Greenwood, on May 3-4. "Garden Tours" will be a feature of the convention, which will include visits to several antebellum homes in and near Greenwood.

HELPING THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

VERY few citizens take time to think what the public school system means to the average child. Without free popular education many children would grow into adults without being adequately prepared for taking proper care of themselves in a business world based upon competitive manners.

We were talking to a prominent merchant of the city yesterday along the general subject of education. He did not have an opportunity to attend school for long, and yet we have talked with no one who appreciates more fully the value of an education not to his own child, but to the children of the other man. Hundreds of good citizens in this community would be unable to educate their children without free schools.

When we reflect upon the value of an education to a child we realize the thing that school taxes are paid for. When the citizen thinks only of the amount he has to pull from his pocket for the maintenance of the school system he exhibits a lack of the cooperative, unselfish spirit which must be the backbone of a successful republic.

It's about time for the report Mississippi authorities were making another survey to determine where the La-Miss. Short Cut will come in to Hancock county. It might require the use of an adding machine to keep count of the surveys—all a different route.

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING

HITLER.

"A LITTLE knowledge is a dangerous thing." This is especially true in foreign affairs, because incomplete knowledge may cause serious blunders. This columnist dare not profess any exhaustive knowledge of European problems, but he is not going to cause any serious trouble because he is not insisting on any course of action more provocative than minding our own business. He may be able to throw a little light on some of the dispatches in the papers.

The present leader of Germany has been causing a great deal of worry to a great many people, some of whom appear to be surprised that Germany accepts him. Yet nothing is more natural than that somebody like Hitler should seize power in that country, and his type of policy should be adopted there.

National habits are even more persistent than personal habits, and differ just as much. The German likes military drill and military authority, which Hitler gives him in large doses. After the great war the Allies, seeking to reduce German power to the minimum, prescribed a military system similar to that of the United States—a small standing army with long enlistments and no reserves. Now Hitler is demanding this inefficient system and going back to the European method of short enlistments with the colors, a large trained reserve and a material increase in the number of men under arms.

That suits the German marvellously. He can march here and there, up and down and around, hold parades and sham battles and generally play soldier to his heart's content. And how he loves it! He felt himself indecently exposed when he had no army. Now he can be all dressed up like a young man with his first suit of evening clothes, and he feels comfortable again. He got the habit under the Kaisers, and habits are hard to break. We do not know what is going to happen in Europe, not even the European correspondents can agree on that, but we strongly suspect that Hitler will do nothing more serious with this fine new army of his than to march it around and show it off. That is lots of fun. We do not imagine that he wants to get into any really truly war with it, for we think he is smart enough to know that he would almost certainly get very badly licked. We suppose that some of the Germans do not know this probably, but the fellows in the government and in the army know it very well indeed. Things have changed since 1914.

The Germans were so excited and so cross that they needed a fight with somebody to work off their feelings, so Hitler led 'em against the Jews, since it was a fair guess that they could lick the Jews, even if they couldn't lick anybody else. It was pretty tough on the Jews, is yet, and it worked out badly for German trade and finance, but it did have an important advantage in relieving German feelings.

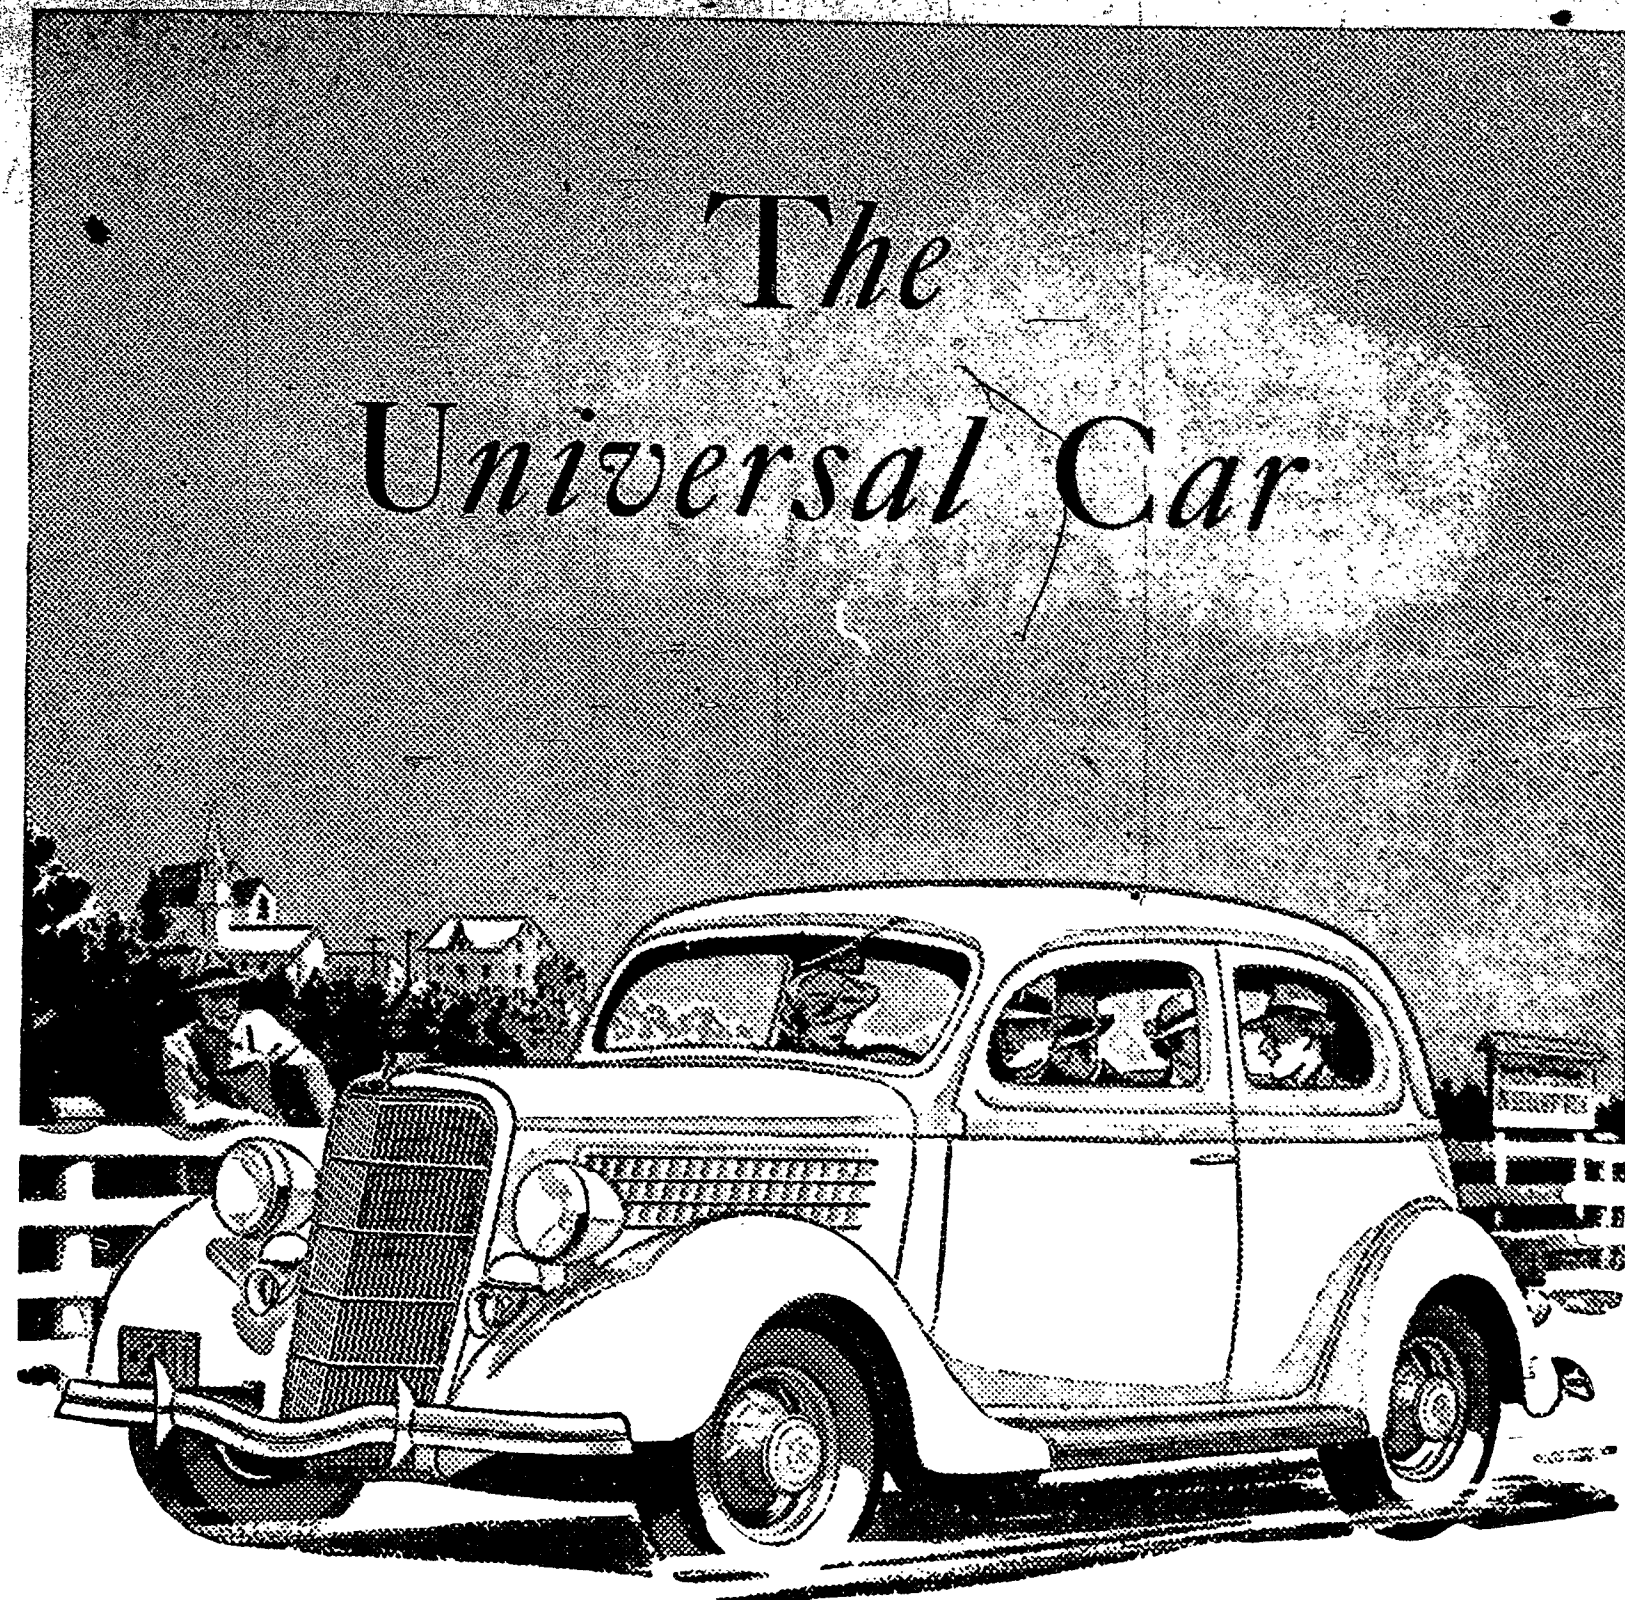

It should not be forgotten, and is not overlooked, that all this excitement Herr Hitler is giving his people is helping to take their minds off their economic worries. They have a depression over there, too. If Hitler didn't do something to distract their attention he would be apt to lose his perfectly good job, and keeping one's job is just as important a problem to a European statesman as it is to an American in public life.

The people really responsible for Hitler are the French. The Germans had a pretty good government for a number of years, and were slowly and steadily getting back to a high place in the esteem of the world. The French kept antagonizing 'em, irritating 'em, and bawling 'em out, and it made 'em mad. If you keep sticking pins into even the most placid man he will probably lose his temper.

The French had a very bad time during the war from 1914 to 1918. Their country was invaded, as it had been in 1814, 1815 and 1870-71, and the invaders were anything but an extreme. No vocabulary smaller than Gen. Johnson can adequately express how much the French do not love the Germans. They not only fail to have any love, they are afraid of them. They have tried every way they can think of to avoid another invasion, except a little generosity.

The French have the most powerful army in the world, a line of extremely formidable and expensive defenses on the German frontier, and alliance with a number of other states. Naturally they are throwing a series of fits at the idea of a German army. Maybe there will be another war sometime. Nobody knows not even the European correspondents of American newspapers. If they do go crazy over there, we do not need to get into it. All we have to do is first, to mind our own business and refrain from poking our noses into matters that do not concern us, second, to get our navy and army in first class fighting trim and third, to serve notice on the whole bunch that if they go to booting us we will knock them into the ash-can.

The experts in the Senate department know how to say that last in diplomatic language so that it will be very polite and also perfectly clear. The thing we need to get into our heads is that we have no authority at all in Europe that they resent our meddling and that we have no responsibility in their quarrels. Nobody made us judges over them.

ONE name comes quickly to mind when you think of "The Universal Car." The description is distinctively Ford. No other car is used by so many millions of men and women in every part of the world. Everywhere it is the symbol of faithful service. . . . That has always been a Ford fundamental. Something new is constantly being added in the way of extra value. Each year the Ford has widened its appeal by increasing its usefulness to motorists. . . . Today's Ford V-8 is more than ever "The Universal Car" because it encircles the needs of more people than any other Ford ever built. It reaches out and up into new fields because it has everything you need in a modern automobile. . . . The Ford V-8 combines fine-car performance, comfort, safety and beauty with low first cost and low cost of operation and up-keep. There is no other car like it.

With The Movies And Film Folks

FOLLOWING quite a search for an actress to play the role of Lilian Russell, Binnie Barnes, English actress, was selected by Universal and work on "Diamond Jim Brady" is scheduled for immediate action. The studio has spent considerable effort in research to produce accurately and faithfully the colorful accountments of the days in which "Diamond Jim" lived. Edward Arnold is to play the title role.

Warner Brothers' spectacle of the season, "Midsummer Night's Dream" has been completed and approved by the Hays organization and will be ready for release before long. The original 18,000 feet of film originally shot has been reduced by 5,000 feet without doing serious damage to the production.

A group of technicians from the Metro lot have returned from the South Seas where they made atmosphere scenes and film for process work for the film version of "Mutiny on the Bounty." These scenes will be projected on transparent screens on the backlot of the studio and the actors will perform before them. In the cast are Charles Laughton, Robert Montgomery and Clark Gable.

Following the completion of her work in "Go Into Your Dance," in which she appeared with her husband, Al Jolson, Ruby Keeler went to New York for a vacation.

Among others who have succumbed to the lure of the British studios are Helen Vinson, Ricard Dix and Madge Evans.

Willie Howard, Broadway musical comedy star, has signed a contract with one of the major studios and will be cast opposite Gladys Swarthout, opera singer, in a forthcoming picture.

After a four years' absence from the screen, Mildred Harris, former wife of Charlie Chaplin, plans a comeback. Her first role since talkies became popular will be with Edmund Lowe and others in "Black Sheep."

According to more recent news from Hollywood, Stan Laurel and his partner are to be reunited. Flooded with telegrams and letters of protest, Hal Roach, producer, got busy on a new contract which suited Laurel and everybody is happy now, it seems.

Buck Jones believes in taking care of his famous horse, "Silver," who is now 21 years old. He hires two equine "stand-ins" to relieve the horse during rehearsals.

Europeans consider Joan Crawford as a typical American girl. Among the other actresses high in favor are Greta Garbo, who leads them all, and Margaret Sullivan, who is "catching on" rapidly there.

Shirley Temple, the screen's big "little" star, will take a trip to Hawaii in June, accompanied by her parents. Shirley recently celebrated her sixth birthday.

Arthur Hornblow, studio executive plans to take a scenario of Rudyard Kipling's story, "The Light That Failed," all the way to England in order to have the famous author approve it and give his permission to have a motion picture made of it.

Film of Adventure in Air, 'Wings in the Dark' New Triumph for Myrna Loy

A thrilling, dramatic and suspenseful drama which gives motion picture audiences a peek into the lives and works of the heroes of the peacetime skyways, Paramount's "Wings in the Dark," comes to the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday with lovely Myrna Loy and handsome Cary Grant co-starred.

This exciting drama brings aviation up to date and ahead of the times by dealing with innovations in blind flying which have not as yet been perfected. Around this technical problem is woven a love story of struggle and achievement. The story deals with a young pilot who is an inventor of instruments for blind flying. Aided by a beautiful female stunt pilot, he prepares to set out on a transoceanic hop to prove his inventions, but an accident blinds him at the last moment. In this state he conceives the idea of perfecting his instruments so that even in his blind condition he can fly the plane.

Myrna Loy Stars
The climax of the picture, in which she establishes the usefulness of his instruments, is one of the most exciting sequences which has ever been filmed. The picture offers Myrna Loy another new characterization as the stunt pilot. This time she gets further from her earlier exotic roles than she has ever been, and proves herself to be a down-to-earth person and a highly capable actress. This adds another ringer to her recent successes and helps establish Myrna Loy as one of the best box office bets of this year.

Grant at His Best
Cary Grant is also fortunate in getting his most unusual role to date. His part as the inventive pilot presented some difficult problems in acting. The fact that he contributed largely to the dramatic thrills of the picture speaks well for his performance. It is without a doubt his most colorful role since "The Eagle and the Hawk," made two years ago, and also an air picture. A fine roster of supporting players are cast in roles which were closely woven into the main thread of the story. Roscoe Karns as an enterprising press agent contributes an unusually fine piece of acting.

OUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Mental Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Learning Health For A Purpose

The idea is not new, but it took an ingenious teacher to put it into effect.

The place was a small high school. To make up standard teams nearly every student had to participate. Their opponents, the larger schools, had the advantage in numbers and facilities. But the spirit was there, so they set out to make up for their shortcomings. And they did it by making a thorough study of healthful living.

The principal of that school told me that every pupil knew and observed the rules of nutrition. Smoking was taboo. Dances and parties were shortened, more study was done at school, and the radio was turned off at a stated hour when the importance of sleep was learned. Candy and sodas were definitely out. Colds received early care. In brief, it was just a case of common sense application, without overemphasis. Anyway, it worked.

Next week Dr. Ireland will discuss the large subject of playground accidents and how to avoid them.

Favre has been receiving congratulations of his courthouse associates and friends in general over the advent of a son on Friday evening of last week, the eighth child to bless and add sunshine to the already happy family. Mrs. Favre and the youngster, at Hotel Dieu, New Orleans, are doing exceedingly well and anticipating the return home. Two daughters and six sons is, indeed, a fine family.

—Mrs. Lillie K. Leonhard, returned from Jackson Friday, after attending the State convention of Grand Chapter of Eastern Star. Mrs. Leonhard attended as Grand Marshall of the Grand Chapter, and was re-elected for a third consecutive term. Others from Bay St. Louis attending were Miss Miriam Engman as chairman of pages, and Mrs. Flora Mae Craft, who was personal page to Mrs. James W. Rankin, of Corinth, Mississippi Grand Patron. Mrs. Leonhard returned to New Orleans Friday evening.

—Mr. S. J. Ingram, superintendent of city schools in Bay St. Louis, has been appointed county representative for the U. S. Citizens' Military Training Camps for Hancock county, and is in charge of enrolling young men of this county for this year's C. M. T. Camp. Dr. Marion J. Wolfe, and Dr. C. M. Shipp, both of Bay St. Louis, have been appointed medical examiners. —Mr. and Mrs. Max N. Kohler came out Thursday of this week to their summer home on North Beach Boulevard and will spend the balance of the week before returning to New Orleans. Their present visit is preparatory to opening the inviting home for the summer season. Mr. and Mrs. Kohler will have with them through the summer their young grandson, Claude Kohler, Jr., and their sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kohler and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Kohler, will be their guests over each week-end. —City authorities report a lot of vandalism is practiced at night over the city and give notice that it is going to have to stop since proper measures have been taken to apprehend the miscreants and promise the fullest extent of the law as to punishment will be meted out to the offenders. Drain traps or protectors at street corners, covering water basins have been removed, pickets and gates have been removed and other forms of mischievous and damaging pranks have been indulged in. Mayor Blaise and City Commissioners say this will have to stop; that to damage and destroy public property is a serious offense.

—W. J. Gex returned home Saturday evening from a three-week absence, during which time he spent the principal part in Washington and at New York. At Washington he spent much of his time with his law associate and personal friend, Senator Pat Harrison, and also with heads of the various departments. Mr. Gex represented several clients and visited the Capital in the interest of various public projects, successful in all endeavors. "I found Washington a veritable bee hive of activity," he said. "The various governmental set-ups for relief and constructive public projects call for a veritable maze of work and workers and it is quite difficult to get an interview with executives—so busy are these men at a time in the turning point of the country."

—A visit to the B. R. Engman Store reveals considerable improvement to the interiors has taken place. The ceiling of the store has been made new and paneled in squares, the interior repainted and arrangement of fixtures and goods have been changed to advantage. The management plans to next remodel the front exterior of the building, rearranging show windows and the re-vamping of the place to a considerable extent. The B. R. Engman Store is one of the oldest and foremost of our business places in the city, always carry a full and complete line of dry goods, ladies' ready to wear, novelties, and in connection a store for men. Mr. Edward Engman and the Misses L. and M. Engman have reorganized their store and propose to carry on the business which their mother established and so well built as a monument to her enterprise and success.

—A collection is in progress to defray the cost of regilding and resilvering the beautiful candlesticks and candelabras that are used from time to time on the altars of the Church of Our Lady of the Gulf. These priceless fixtures of the church are of fine workmanship and of unusual design, and said to be of the time of the late Rev. Father Henry Leque, possibly more than sixty or seventy years old, in a sense antiques. The surface work from long use recently became ruined from the fire originating behind the altar. The church carried insurance, but not on the candle holders. Their appearance made it impossible for use. Accordingly, a lady of the parish started a cash collection to defray the cost of renovation, that is of resilvering and regilding. Part of the work was accomplished and is money well spent. But there remains a number of the stands to be gilded and the collection for funds continues. Contributions left with Sister Antoinette at the convent or at The Sea Coast Echo office, to be delivered, will be gratefully acknowledged.
